

Arthur Phillip's hopes for the new colony (1938)

FATHER: I've just been reading about those early days. There's a picture of Governor Phillip and Judge Advocate Collins just after the reading of the Official Proclamation.

[Music]

JUDGE ADVOCATE COLLINS: Your Excellency seems strangely thoughtful on this memorable day, dreaming of the old homeland.

GOVERNOR PHILLIP: No Collins, of this new land. A vision that this mean settlement may one day achieve greatness, and become the most valuable acquisition Great Britain ever made.