

Student activity | Group art and grid activity

Resources: <https://digital-classroom.nma.gov.au/warakurna>

This activity requires you to choose a special or favourite place in your aerial artwork from your activity sheets and create a treasure hunt or journey leading your peers with clues. Follow the instructions below to begin your game.

1. After completing an aerial artwork from your activity sheet make a copy of your artwork. This could be done by taking a photo and printing it, scanning with a photocopier, or printing the copy out onto another piece of paper.
2. The next step is to create a grid to overlay onto your artwork. It can be large squares, making your grid minimal with fewer coordinates, or smaller squares, making your grid larger with more coordinates.

3. Place the grid over your artwork copy.

Below is an example of the National Museum of Australia and a satellite picture from Google maps.

4. Once you have overlaid a grid image onto your artwork create coordinates with clues to lead your viewers or players to your special or favourite location in your artwork. When creating your questions to reveal coordinates ensure the below points are addressed:
- Your coordinates must reveal interesting facts about your artwork.
 - Once players have joined the coordinates together it will create a journey line revealing your special or favourite location.
 - When you reveal your location provide the reasoning behind the unique characters that make.

For example:
